Combined annual training camp

Combined Annual Training Camp was conducted for cadets of 5TN AIR SQN TECH NCC at Sengunthar college of Engineering Tiruchengode – 637 205. From 15.11.2021 to 22.11.2021. The camp included both Senior Division and Senior Wing cadets from 11 colleges.

Double Barrel rifle:

Over the course of the camp, all cadets were given chances to fire rounds using the Double barrel shotgun at the clay pigeons. This experience made us realize that marksmanship is one of those fine practical skills that have an extremely deep impact on its users. It forces the person trying to master it to be relentless, to evaluate multiple factors in mere milliseconds and take decisive action, and to push one's mind and body to the absolute limits of control. These impacts I felt while training are things I carry forward on a daily basis to maximize my efficiency at any task I pursue and am grateful to have had this experience.

Tent Pitching:

Apart from its importance in adventure camps, tent pitching teaches a cadet to collaborate with others efficiently to complete a task in minimum time. In this activity, cadets are trained to program their reflexes so that they can put up temporary or permanent tents in the least time possible. It requires teamwork, understanding and quick decision making to use human resources effectively.

Secondly, with slight interchange of team members as per their interest cleaned all the place using broom sticks and dumped, degradable wastes in another bag. All the team members worked with great enthusiasm and energy and josh, with a belief of clean India. It really made the campaign to be really useful. At last the troop gathered 3kg of plastics and 6kg of degradable wastes. We disposed the degradable waste by dumping it in a large decomposition pit and plastics were sent off for recycling.
